Performer Applications

If you have a hankering to get up on the festival stage and share your latest lyrics, rehash some classics, or - in the words of Bob Dylan - lay down your weary tune, its time to get your PERFORMER APPLICATION in to the festival. The application form for the 2011 festival is enclosed. Fill it out and send it in right away to get your 15 minutes on the main stage or to play a full set at one of the many locations around the city during Folk Week. You can also go to http://www.anchoragefolkfestival.org/cc/2011_AFF_Performer_Appl-form.pdf, fill the form out on-line then print it, or print it out then fill it in by hand, but DO fill it out and mail it in. Applications are accepted only by mail and they must be postmarked by November 28.

Volunteer Applications

Whether or not you play on the festival stage, consider pitching in to help make the festival a reality. We need stage hands, lighting technicians, publicists, merchandise sales people, setter-uppers and taker-downers. Fill out the enclosed VOLUNTEER APPLICATION so we know how to find you and can match you up with a fun assignment. The festival doesn't happen without you.

Commercial Contributions

If you operate a business, or work for someone that does, please consider commercial sponsorship opportunities with the Anchorage Folk Festival. Commercial contributions to the festival provide a backbone of support from the community for your neighbors and customers! Commercial contributors are recognized with display advertisement in our festival programs and with links to our website, offering contact with thousands of Anchorage Folk Festival attendees and fans. A contribution form for the 2011 festival is enclosed. For more information, go to <http://www.anchoragefolkfestival.org/sponsor.html>.

Upcoming Folk Events

On tour in Southcentral in November will be the Foghorn Stringband from Portland, Oregon. Caleb Klauder, Sammy Lind, and Nadine Landry were last here in 2009 for the Alaska Traditional Music Camp, and they lit up the woods with their powerful old-time performances. The band is in Anchorage for a workshop and house concert on November 13, ambles down to Homer for a workshop and open jam at the Yurt Village on Monday the 15th and a non-smoking show at the Downeast Saloon on Tuesday, the 16th. They return to the Brown Bear Saloon in Indian on Thursday, November 18th, and the Tap Root Cafe in Anchorage on Friday, November 19th. Call Jay Marvin at 907-529-5816 for the skinny on the Anchorage gigs, and Marla McPherson at 907-299-6297 for the doings in Homer.

Songwriters of Alaska

If your tastes run toward thoughtful lyrics and captivating vocal performances, Anchorage Folk Festival performer and vocal instructor Ruby has founded "Songwriters of Alaska". This group is dedicated to enhancing the musical and professional lives of Alaskan songwriters by providing networking, educational, and performance opportunities for songwriters of all ages, genres, and levels of ability. Check 'em out at <http://www.songwritersofalaska.com>.
